

LEADERSHIP PROFILE

Jeff Stroman serves Oxford Financial Group, Ltd. as a Managing Director, as well as a member on the Oxford Investment Board. He is also a member of Oxford's Board of Directors and the Value Council.

Jeff has spent over 30 years advising clients and coordinating the Managing Directors within the investment services practice. Jeff's client service responsibilities included advising institutions, private trusts and families.

Jeff graduated with academic distinction from Mississippi State University (MSU),

JEFFERY H. STROMAN, CPA (Inactive) MANAGING DIRECTOR & OXFORD INVESTMENT BOARD

"I believe in utilizing the extensive experience, judgment and expertise of our Chief Investment Officer and each member of the Oxford Investment Fellows to develop asset allocation policy, strategy and unique solutions that are the foundation of Oxford's investment advisory service."

where he lettered four years on a basketball scholarship while completing a Bachelor's degree from the MSU College of Business and Industry. After graduation, he worked with a Big Eight public accounting firm and also received his Certified Public Accountant (CPA) certificate. He later served as a financial analyst for Stokely-Van Camp and as a successful investment broker. Immediately prior to joining Oxford, Jeff served as a branch manager for a New York Stock Exchange brokerage firm.

The Certified Public Accountant (CPA) is the statutory title of qualified public accountants in the US who have passed the Uniform Certified Public Accountant Examination and have met additional state education and experience requirements. Certification is administered by each state. OFG-2007-21
